

MINISCULE WORKSHEETS – SMALL BRUSH PENS

Brush Lettering from A to Z by Emma Witte

A comprehensive guide to creating modern calligraphy with a brush pen

About these worksheets:

- These worksheets are designed to show you step-by-step how to create each letter of the miniscule (lowercase) alphabet using a SMALL brush pen (ideal for Pentel Sign Brush Markers).
- Print a copy of these worksheets.
- Place smooth, translucent paper (such as Rhodia, tracing paper or vellum) over the top, so that you don't damage your brush pens on the rough printer paper, and so that you can reuse these worksheets again and again!
- Each letter is made up of multiple strokes.
- Follow the stroke instructions from left to right.
- Use the greyed-out letters to practise over, and if there's some blank space beside them, use that to freehand your own letters!
- Make sure to physically remove your pen from the page between each stroke.
- Don't forget: thin / light strokes up (away from you), thick / heavy strokes down (towards you).
- Lastly, have fun!

x  The diagram shows the stroke order for writing the cursive letter 'm'. It starts with a small 'x' on the left. The first stroke is a downward curve from the top line to the middle line, ending in a hook. This is followed by a plus sign and a second identical stroke. A second plus sign follows, then a third stroke that starts from the middle line, curves down to the bottom line, and then back up to the middle line. This is followed by an equals sign, a solid black cursive 'm', and then two more cursive 'm's in a lighter grey color for tracing.

x  The diagram shows the stroke order for writing the cursive letter 'n'. It starts with a small 'x' on the left. The first stroke is a downward curve from the top line to the middle line, ending in a hook. This is followed by a plus sign and a second stroke that starts from the middle line, curves down to the bottom line, and then back up to the middle line. This is followed by an equals sign, a solid black cursive 'n', and then two more cursive 'n's in a lighter grey color for tracing.

x  The diagram shows the stroke order for writing the cursive letter 'o'. It starts with a small 'x' on the left. The first stroke is a small upward curve from the middle line to the top line. This is followed by a plus sign and a second stroke that starts from the top line, curves down to the middle line, and then back up to the top line. A second plus sign follows, then a third stroke that starts from the middle line, curves down to the bottom line, and then back up to the middle line. This is followed by an equals sign, a solid black cursive 'o', and then two more cursive 'o's in a lighter grey color for tracing.

x  The diagram shows the stroke order for writing the cursive letter 'p'. It starts with a small 'x' on the left. The first stroke is a downward curve from the top line to the bottom line, ending in a hook. This is followed by a plus sign and a second stroke that starts from the top line, curves down to the middle line, and then back up to the top line. A second plus sign follows, then a third stroke that starts from the middle line, curves down to the bottom line, and then back up to the middle line. A fourth plus sign follows, then a fourth stroke that starts from the middle line, curves down to the bottom line, and then back up to the middle line. This is followed by an equals sign, a solid black cursive 'p', and then two more cursive 'p's in a lighter grey color for tracing.

Handwriting practice for the cursive letter 'y'. The first row shows the stroke order: a small 'x' on the left, followed by three strokes: a downward curve from the top line to the middle line, a downward curve from the middle line to the bottom line, and a final downward curve from the middle line to the bottom line. These are followed by an equals sign and three examples of the letter 'y' in cursive script. The first 'y' is solid black, and the next two are light grey.

Handwriting practice for the cursive letter 'z'. The first row shows the stroke order: a small 'x' on the left, followed by three strokes: a downward curve from the top line to the middle line, a downward curve from the middle line to the bottom line, and a final downward curve from the middle line to the bottom line. These are followed by an equals sign and three examples of the letter 'z' in cursive script. The first 'z' is solid black, and the next two are light grey.
